PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION OF HIGH SCHOOL SEE DEMONSTRATIONS

INSTRUCTORS PRAISED
Prof. Busenbarg Pays Tribute to Mr. Rhea and Miss Kestner for Their Fine Work

The High School Parent-Teachers' Association had a splendid meeting in the gymnasium of the high school Monday evening. It was something different from other meetings in that the program had to do with physical training and by actual demonstrations the teachers showed how the boys and girls are being trained to be better physical men and women at the same time their minds are being developed. The program was in charge of Gilbert Rhea, who trains the boys and Miss Leona Kestner, who trains the girls. They told what they were trying to do and showed how they are doing it.

Many people have criticized the schools for the time given over to play, the instructors said, but when this kind of play is so beneficial to the children at that stage of life, it should be carried on as long as the children are benefited thereby.

The three objectives for which the schools are working as outlined Monday night by Mr. Rhea and Miss Kestner are, first, The Physical Objective; second, The Mental Objective; and third, The Social Objective. Under the first objective, the instructors include the development of organic vigor, giving special emphasis to the head and lungs. Mr. Rhea said in this climate where so much tuberculosis prevails, this lung development is one of the finest preventatives for this disease. He also said the objective sought here aids in development of the muscles that ordinarily do not get the required amount of exercise. The development of motor control, posture and rhythm. In each case coach Rhea demonstrated what he was trying to do with the boys. He had about twenty youngsters present to go through their drills. He showed how other lungs had developed, how they throw their shoulders back, breathe deeply and thus develop better lungs.

In the second objective, he demonstrated how the physical training aids in the development, first discrimination and judgment; second, will-power, decisiveness, resoluteness and determination; third, quick preception and quick reaction; and fourth, initiative. Mr. Rhea said the game of basketball teaches the boys to think quickly and to act the same way. He had a short basketball game in which the youngsters participated.

Miss Kestner had twenty of her girls present to demonstrate what she is doing towards physical development of the girls in the schools. She showed how their work is far from play and the girls demonstrated some fancy high jumping and jumping is one of the pieces of gymnasium equipment used. They were quite adept at high jumping and most of them got over the bar up to nearly four feet or higher. They did it easily and gracefully and to go through these exercises daily, is sure to make one better fit physically and mentally.

The girls are benefited as much as the boys and they are sent through a course of training very similar and the same good development of body and minds is being reported.

They showed how physical defects, such as flat feet, etc., are corrected in this stage of their lives and how other deformities are corrected.

Following the demonstrations, R. P. Mullins, president of the club spoke of the good results attained and called on Prof. Busenbarg for a short talk. He spoke of the value of athletics to the school and said only recently a Greencastle man had approached one member of the basketball team and offered him $15 or $20 to throw the Greencastle-Bainbridge game in

DECISION IN McCRAY CASE, SOON

HARRY C. SHERIDAN MASTER IN CHANCERY ANNOUNCED TODAY IN INDIANAPOLIS.

ORAL ARGUMENTS HEARD

Heard Monday By Sheridan. Attorneys On Both Sides Indulge In Various Declarations.

INDIANAPOLIS, JAN. 22.—A decision in the bankruptcy case against Governor McCray was promised at an early date by Harry C. Sheridan, master in chancery, today.

Oral arguments in the case were heard by Sheridan yesterday. During the course of the argument attorneys for the three Fort Wayne banks which are attempting to have McCray declared bankrupt launched one of the most bitter attacks on the governor that has been heard in the court proceedings since McCray's financial crash last summer.

The banks' attorneys declared McCray felt free to run his private business any way he saw fit because he knew that as governor his acts would be accepted without question. They charged that he "dominated and disrupted" the state department of government. He was severely criticized for the state board of agriculture loan and for alleged irregularities in connection with his notes.

They contended that McCray's principal occupation was not farming—that he was primarily a grain and land speculator—and that consequently he was subject to the laws of involuntary bankruptcy.

In answer, McCray's attorneys branded the argument a "villification, not argument," and contended the banks' attorneys had failed to show that McCray's principal occupation was not farming.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The City Council will meet this evening at seven for their regular business session.

WILL HANDLE VISITORS WELL

BAINBRIDGE MAKING PREPARATIONS TO CARE FOR TOURIST VISITORS

That the basketball fans who will visit Bainbridge for the county tournament as well as for the sectional tournament, will be well taken care of, is demonstrated by the complete arrangements that have been made for the comfort of the visitors.

Bainbridge has one of the finest gymnasiums in the state. It will accommodate all who want to attend either the county or the sectional tournament. The floor is much larger than the usual high school floor and the interior of the structure resembles the DePauw gymnasium very much.

To feed the visitors, all the restaurants have gone to extra plans to care for the added population for these occasions and the women of the Methodist church will also serve meals and as they have a new church and kitchen, those who visit the place will be sure to get everything they need in the way of good food.

It will be the first time the county as well as the sectional meet has been held in Bainbridge. All others having been held here. Bainbridge, through its up-to-dateness, won both of their splendid facilities, won both of their both tournaments and because of the interesting high school meets.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK

Own Your Own Home Day, January 22, 1924.

"I never saw an oft-transplanted tree, Nor yet an oft-removed family, That thrives as well as those that settled be."

"Ne'er take a wife till thou hast a House to put her in."

—Poor Richard. Many a marriage has turned out unhappily because the home was not a real one. If your home is to be truly yours, it must have been planned with your own needs and tastes in mind. Dream over your house before it is built.

In these days the young husband can not always "have a house to put her in," before he takes a wife. But he can begin right away to store up money in the bank to meet the first payment on the home they both want.

This announcement will be pleasing to the many customers and friends of the Browning store.

LAWRENCE DOWNS IS RAILROAD PRESIDENT

"Larry" Downs has hit the top. Thirty years ago he was a section hand on the Vandalia railroad here. Yesterday, according to a dispatch from Savannah, Ga., he was elected president of the Central Railway of Georgia, one of the largest railroad systems of the south. It was said among railroad men last night that the presidency of the Central of Georgia carries with it a salary between $35,000 and $40,000 a year.

Lawrence A. Downs is a son of the late James E. Downs of Terre Haute. His brothers, M. F. and James E. Jr., still live here and are well known officials with the Highland Iron and Steel company. One sister, Mrs. John Brophy, also lives here at 1640 Locust street, Terre Haute.

As a boy he worked with his father, a Vandalia foreman, and served his apprenticeship as a section hand. He attended DePauw university two years and finished his engineering course at Purdue. His first job was under the late A. J. Gibbons, engineer maintenance of way of the Vandalia railroad, at $40 a month. Some years later he went with the Illinois Central and advanced from engineer to chief engineer, then to superintendent of the Louisville system and finally to vice president of the Illinois Central. He later went to the Central of Georgia as general manager. And upon the death of President W. A. Winburn he now becomes president of the system.

When A. J. Wallace was taken from the Illinois Central by President Roosevelt to dig the Panama canal, he offered "Larry" Downs the place as his first lieutenant, but Downs declined and remained with the Illinois Central.

WATCH YOUR CHILDREN

EVANSVILLE, IND., JAN. 22.—If parents would take the proper interest in their children, divorce among the younger generation would be fewer, according to Judge Phillip C. Gould. The judge says Amos E. Eilderback's father was as much to blame as anyone for the nineteen-year-old husband going to jail for failing to pay a court order for support of his eighteen-year-old wife pending outcome of their divorce trial.

SISTERHOOD ENTERTAINED AT DINNER

MRS. FRED L. O'HAIR IS HOSTESS MONDAY EVENING TO LOCAL CHAPTER OF P. E. O.

FOUNDERS ARE HONORED

Toasts Given and a Splendid Good Time Was Enjoyed. Decorations Quite Elaborate

Mrs. Fred L. O'Hair entertained Chapter I, P. E. O. Sisterhood with a beautifully appointed four course dinner, at her home on east Washington street. The P. E. O. colors of yellow and white were carried out in the decorations of the home and table.

Mrs. Jennie Curtis Hearst, who has been a member of the Sisterhood longer than any other member of this chapter, led the way to the dining room carrying a lighted taper. After each of the guests had found her place, Mrs. Hearst, in the name of each of the seven founders, lighted each of the seven candles adorning the table. Mrs. Sweet offered thanks and the sixteen P. E. O.'s then enjoyed the splendid menu prepared by the hostess.

Miss Eleanor Cammack assisted during the evening.

Mrs. Eugene Hawkins as toastmistress opened the program with a speech in which she most feelingly emphasized the ideals of the Sisterhood. She reminded the members that 33,000 women in the United States and Canada were on the same day, honoring the same seven founders.

The following toasts were given: The Seven Founders—Miss Dade B. Shearer.

Experiences in P. E. O.—Mrs. W. M. Hudson.

My Impressions of P. E. O.—Mrs. Ferd Lucas.

An Old Timer—Mrs. Jennie Curtis Hearst.

At the close of the last toast the chapter was presented with "The Story of P. E. O."—a gift from Miss Shearer, Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Hearst, the three members, who came into the chapter by dimit.

The guests then received the happy announcement that Chapter J had just been organized at Valparaiso, Ind.

After an informal social hour, during which P. E. O. songs were sung, the guests departed feeling more strongly the "ties that bind."

BAPTIST SERVICE

ON SUNDAY WERE OF MUCH INTEREST BECAUSE OF THE REVIVAL

Sunday was a great lay for the Baptist church of this city. Beginning with the Sunday school in the morning an all-day meeting was held in the series of revival services extending over this week. Rev. Barney of Madison was the preacher at all the services and delivered strong gospel messages.

Dinner was served at the church and many of the members remained at the church for supper and the young people's prayer service which preceded the evening reaching. One young man made a re-dedication of his life to Jesus at the Sunday School hour and a deep spirit of consecration permeated the entire program of the day. In the evening, Mr. Yelton sang the old favorite song, "The Old Rugged Cross." The song services are becoming of unusual interest.

Last night the evangelist preached a stirring sermon and one convert came to the altar. A series of cottage prayer meetings will be conducted this week under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Mitchell and it is hoped that the entire community will join the local church in these informal community prayer meetings.

Meetings will continue every night this week at 7:30. A blessing is in store for those who come for the song service and sermon.

COURT CASE IS OF MUCH INTEREST

JACKSON TOWNSHIP MAN CHARGED WITH KEEPING CHILDREN OUT OF SCHOOL

JURY HEARING THE CASE

Case Was Said to Have Grown Out of Failure to Transport Children

The case of the state versus Solie Riddel, of Jackson township, charged with failing to send his children to school, which was called Monday morning in the Putnam Circuit Court and which it was thought might be settled during the day, went to trial late in the afternoon and was continued through Tuesday.

The school officials filed the case against Riddel, some time ago but it was delayed in reaching a trial. The teachers, and a number of Jackson township people, including Trustee Allen, testified for the state, and the prosecution completed its chain of evidence Tuesday.

Mr. Riddel went on the witness stand in his own behalf. He said his children went to school at a district school near his home until the schools of Jackson township were consolidated.

DR. GROSE AT MARTINSVILLE

DePAUW PRESIDENT, WHILE RESTING AT HOME LAWN, CALLED ON

Dr. Grose, president of DePauw, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning, his appearance being a surprise to the congregation. There was a general exchange of pulpits among the Methodist ministers of the county and Rev. E. L. Hutcheson, of Mooresville, was here in an exchange with Rev. H. H. Allen. Just prior to the beginning of the preaching service Rev. Hutcheson became ill and was compelled to leave.

Dr. Grose, who has been at the Home Lawn taking a rest, was in the congregation with his wife and acceded to a request to occupy the pulpit. Rev. Hutcheson was to have spoken in the interest of the campaign for an increased endowment for Evansville college, a Methodist institution. Dr. Grose spoke on this subject and explained the great work denominational colleges are doing and of their indispensable part in the educational system. Intellectual education is important, but moral education is equally important. Some of the denominational schools may not have the great mass attendance that some of the tax supported schools have but there is the compensating fact that the students come in more personal contact with instructors and there is also a moral atmosphere and influence about such institutions that is of inestimable value to the students at this critical times in their lives. The sermon was very much of a treat for the congregation.—Martinsville Reporter.

RUSSIAN LEADER IS DEAD

PREMIER LENIN PASSED AWAY MONDAY NIGHT NEAR THE CITY OF MOSCOW.

WAS A WORLD FIGURE

Following the Overthrow of the Regime of the Czar During Russian Revolution.

MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—Lenin is dead. The man who led the Russian revolution and overthrew the long established order of the czars, passed away at a moment when his party is beginning to reap the fruits of his labors.

Ill for many months, the Bolshevik leader died while others carried on the soviet government he founded.

Lenin had become an enigma to his countrymen, living in seclusion, his condition carefully concealed from the world. It was known that he had suffered a form of paralysis and that famous specialists had come from far lands to treat him.

Only a fortnight ago, it was reported to Russia at large that Lenin was getting well. He had been out hunting rabbits on Christmas day, the Christmas of the capitalistic countries he scorned, and again on New Year's Day.

His early return to participation in Russian affairs even was rumored. No one from the outside world was permitted to see Lenin. He was kept closely guarded, while others carried on the affairs of the government and the country that had followed Lenin awaited his return.

Today came the word of his death, many times rumored and as often denied. The Russian leader, hailed as one of the greatest men of modern times, died, at ten minutes to seven Monday night.

His death took place at a little town called Gorky, not far from Moscow. The funeral will be held on Saturday. On that day the body will be interred in the Kremlin Hall beside that of Sverdloff, one of his fellow leaders in the great upheaval of Russia.

The death of Lenin came as a blow to his millions of followers. Despite his two years absence from the Kremlin, he was first in the hearts of the Russians who rose behind him and overthrew the Romanoff dynasty.

They had always looked forward to his return. Some few who knew the worst, had given up hope. But not the great majority of Russia. As this country's commercial relations with other nations improved, the talk was always of "when Lenin gets back to work."

Now Lenin is dead of an illness the exact nature of which was not at first disclosed. He lived, however to see the state he dreamed of and fought for take its place among the nations of the world; a state not yet recognized by many governments, but standing on its own feet.

Simultaneously with Lenin's death comes the passing from supreme power in Russia of the man who led with him—Leon Trotsky.

The latter, soviet war minister, has been relegated to seventh place among the leaders of the less radical order of things in Russia.

What effect the death of Lenin will have upon Trotsky's future it is too early to predict. Many believe he never will return to the place he enjoyed when he and the late leader stood side by side at the head of Bolshevik affairs.

Paralysis of the respiratory organs was apparently the cause. The body will be brought to Moscow tomorrow and will lie in state until Saturday.

In death Lenin is to be made accessible to all those who followed him and could not be with him in his illness.

An official statement issued by the Russian government said that the soviet government will continue to carry out the will of the workers and peasants, it was Lenin's last wishes.

When Eugene Hirt installed a new heater in his Ford sedan a few days ago, he did not think it would be of sufficient value and warmth to cause some one to go to the trouble to steal the heater off his machine, but it appears that someone needed the heater worse than Mr. Hirt did, because when he left his car near the Hanna street school building for a short time on Monday while he drove one of the school trucks, some person took the heater out of the car and disappeared with it. No one saw anybody working on the car which was left in the street and now Mr. Hirt is looking for a Ford heater to replace the stolen one.

Number Two-Nineteen!

Sixty years ago, in temporary quarters shared with Greencastle's first drug store, the original Directors of the First National Bank met and elected Officers. A month later, in January, 1864, the Government granted to the newly organized bank, National Bank Charter No. 219.

Although 218 charters were previously issued by the Government, Charter No. 219 is one of very few that exist today.

Thus the First National Bank of Greencastle thrived and grew with Greencastle—and has lived to be one of the OLDEST National Banks in the United States today.

But—the same conscientious service, generously given, which marked its rise, has kept the First National sixty years YOUNG!

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we long to hear,
For too far away from sight and speech,

But not too far for our thoughts to reach,
Time may heal our broken hearts,
Time may make the wound less sore,

But time can never stop the longing,
To see our darling mother gone before.

"Made Me Feel Like a New Man"

"I was continually suffering from indigestion and I had heart flutter the worst in the world," said Mr. Brockman. "I was unable to sleep at night and I was unable to work as I should. I was in despair for fear that I would never be any better. For I had some to specialists and taken their prescriptions without any result at all. Finally I heard of Foleys and tried it. The first and only bottle I have taken has made a new man of me."

DOWNWARD COURSE

A little backache at first.

Daily increasing 'till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders may quickly follow.

Dropsy and often Bright's disease.

This frequently is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Greencastle citizen.

Mrs. Andrew Thomas, 408 W. Liberty street, says: "I highly recommend Doan's Pills, for what they have done for me. I had kidney trouble awfully bad and didn't know what it was to see a well day. My back just ached and pained so I couldn't half do my work. I became run down and had dizzy spells. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. The use of Doan's Pills, from Mullins' Drug Store, relieved the backaches and put my kidneys in a good, healthy condition."

Important to all Women

Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes anyone so.

Do hundreds of women claim that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many need for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM FRANKLIN HARRIS

William F. Harris, known among his acquaintances as "Uncle Frank" was born June 5, 1842 in Putnam County, Indiana, the son of Isaac Harris and Mary Jane McGinnis Harris, pioneers of Kentucky and Tennessee; he departed this life January 19, 1924 at Indianapolis, Indiana, aged 81 years, 7 months and 9 days.

He was united in wedlock with Matilda Catherine Clearwaters, October 6, 1864, in Putnam County, Indiana, and he remained a resident of this county near Cloverdale and later in Roachdale, Ind. His wife preceded him in death, August 1, 1912. To this union were born ten children, five daughters and five sons, all of whom are living; Flora Chase now Mrs. E. F. White of Quincy, Indiana; Nettie Maud now Mrs. Geo. Stanger of Indianapolis; James Elmer of Terre Haute; Jennie May, now the widow of Joseph Grimm of Indianapolis; Grace, now Mrs. W. V. Mangrum of Evansville, Ind.; Harland Alvan, Everett Preston and Kenneth Franklin, all of Greencastle, Ind., and Erola Glenn and Marl, both of Indianapolis, Ind. With these children, 28 grand children and six great grand children with a host of other relatives and friends survive him and cherish his memory.

Never a vigorous or physically strong man since the Civil War, the last few years saw a rapid decline in health, body and mind suffering from heart and nervous trouble of long standing. At such an advanced age life became a burden, his mind became obsessed by vagaries and a desire to wander, restlessness and loneliness possessed him since the loss of his life companion and he wandered from his daughter's home and was found with life extinct.

He was a Civil War Veteran, member of the Grand Army of the Republic, enlisted in Co. I in the 55th Inf. Regiment of Indiana Volunteers. He was a devoted member of the Masonic Order; in religion he was a Methodist, having joined the Methodist church at "Old Bethel" in Putnam County, more than fifty years ago. Frank Harris was unpretentious in all his dealings and actions with his fellow-men yet believed in the conventions of Society. He was a well-read student of world wide and home events. Honesty, kindness and Christian faith ruled his life.

the coming sectional tournament, because "He" could make some money off it by betting heavily on Bainbridge. Mr. Busenburg condemned such tactics on the part of the individual and said it was just this thing the schools are trying to correct. He illustrated what he meant by telling of a certain school in which no basketball was played, but the boys had an independent team and to win, they were dishonest enough to raise one basket three inches higher than it should be and they had one foul line a foot farther away than it should have been. He said basketball gets every one behind the same end and thus it does away with class differences and in the end has everyone pulling to gain the same objective and makes a better school.

Mr. Busenburg in his work paid Mr. Rhea and Miss Kester a compliment and said he had been in many schools, but found none better and many not as good as the Greencastle instructors. He said the schools should feel proud of the instructors who have boys and girls in charge.

Prof. B. W. Kelly spoke of the proposed home nursing class Miss Isabel Walker wants to start among the school girls as well as the parents, if they desire it. She needs some equipment, but the Association voted to see that she gets it. Miss Walker intended being present Monday night, but owing to illness was unable to be there. Mr. Kelly told of the work Miss Walker is doing and urged that it be continued and supported by the school organizations, and the High School Parent Teachers' Association went on record as favoring it.

INTERESTING STATISTICS CONCERNING THE STATE INSTITUTIONS PUBLISHED BELOW

AN INCREASE IN 1923

Every Institution in State is Listed With Total Number Inmates. A Slight Increase

INDIANAPOLIS, JAN. 22.—(U-P)—State charitable and correctional institutions received new inmates at the rate of twenty a day throughout the fiscal year ending September 30, 1923, according to reports to the Board of State Charities. The whole number was 7,369. Re-admission of inmates for parole or temporary absence is not taken into account in these figures. They refer to new state wards only.

The eight institutions for mental cases—insane, feeble-minded and epileptic—had 1,353 new inmates; the state penal and correctional institutions, 3,726; the state Sanatorium and the Robert W. Long hospital, 1,932; the two schools for the deaf and blind and the two homes for soldiers and their dependents, 358. By institutions, the distribution was as follows: Five state hospitals for the insane, 1,074; School for feeble-minded youth, 186; farm colony for feeble-minded, 22; Village for epileptics, 61; state Sanatorium, 75; Robert W. Long hospital, 1,875; Soldiers' home, 242; Soldiers' and Sailors' orphans' home, 28; school for deaf, 62; school for blind, 26; state prison, 861; reformatory, 530; state farm, 2,202; woman's prison, 601; girls' school, 126; boys' school 200. Total, 7,369.

Every county in the state contributed to this total. The lowest numbers were Ohio county, 4; Crawford, 5; Starke, 6. The highest were Vigo, 286; Lake, 578 and Marion, 1,624. The same institutions had 7,288 admissions in 1922. The increase in 1923 was due principally to a greater number of commitments to the Indiana state farm for misdemeanants, at Putnamville.

INDIANAPOLIS LIVESTOCK

Sows and pigs were generally steady with sows selling down from $6.50 and pigs down from $7.

Presence of a larger number of good steers and prime cattle caused more activity in the cattle market. Prices were steady. Receipts were 800.

BRITISH

FALLS WHEN LABOR VOTES A MAJORITY AGAINST PREMIER BALDWIN.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Great Britain, greatest of the few remaining monarchies, placed its affairs of state and industry today in the hands of a government built of its laboring class.

Stanley Baldwin, leader of the conservative party, representing the old order of things in England, tendered his resignation and those of his ministers to his sovereign at noon.

A few minutes later King George called upon Ramsey Mac Donald to form the first labor government in the history of Britain—the first in the world of its kind.

Without a shot having been fired or a blow struck, the power and authority of affairs in Britain passed from the most conservative group of ministers guiding the destiny of a nation to the most advanced that have been called to the helm of a government recognized by all powers.

King George, figure head of what well may be the last of the old order, summoned to office a man, in Ramsey Mac Donald who has stood frankly and openly for a levy upon the nation's capital and putting an end to the system that has maintained the monarchy where it is today.

To many in Britain watching the rapidly changing panorama as it was played out, act by act, in Whitehall and Buckingham palace, the invitation to the leader of the labor party to form a government and take the helm, marked the taking of a step which this country never can retrace.

The passing of the Baldwin government was accomplished without undue excitement, shortly before midnight in the house of commons on Monday.

The vote of the House was an anticlimax to what had gone before.

This morning the formalities that accompany a change of government in Great Britain were gone through with.

C. C. YOST, STATE APIARIST PREDICTS ABUNDANCE OF HONEY THIS YEAR IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—(By United Press)—A large honey flow is in prospect for Indiana this year, C. C. Yost, State apiarist, predicted today.

Yost based his forecast on reports from throughout the state that the clover plants were more hardy and had stored more plant food during the long growing period last fall than in about eight years.

The cold has not effected the clover plants so far, he said. The time most to be feared is the freezing and thawing season of February and March, which, he said, may have some effect upon the crop.

Plants are sometimes weakened by the freezing and thawing, partially ejecting the plant roots from the ground, Yost declared. However, he said, little fear need be felt on this account this year, as the plants are unusually healthy.

To prepare for the increased harvest of honey, Yost suggested that bee keepers buy necessary equipment in anticipation of the rush of which will be caused by the yield.

He also advocated strengthening weak colonies at this time by the purchase of a few pound packages of bees to add to the hives.

A one pound package added now to a weak colony will enable the keeper to have a good colony in time for the clover-flow.

OHIO DELEGATION AT INDIANAPOLIS MEETING WANTS AN INCREASE

MEN ARE ALL TOGETHER

And Conditions More Favorable Than Ever Before. Some Unemployed

INDIANAPOLIS, JAN. 22.—Under conditions that indicated one of the most harmonious conventions in a number of years, 1,800 members of the coal digging fraternity assembled here today for the international convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

Two years ago as the miners met in convention, a nation-wide strike loomed just ahead and the organization was torn with factional strife particularly on the part of the ultra-radical element which sought to wrest the reins from those in control.

Today the international officers report the union is in excellent shape, save for the unusual unemployment now prevalent throughout both the union and non-union mines.

The miners are stronger numerically and financially than ever before. Factional differences have apparently been smoothed out, and radical proclivities were not so much in evidence.

The wage question stands out

It was regarded as highly significant, however, that there were fewer petitions asking for a wage increase than in several years. The number of petitions is the barometer of the attitude of the workers.

GIVE HOSPITAL TO CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. 22.—(United Press)—The board of rectors of the Culver Union Hospital valued at $100,000 have given property to the county.

The institution was formerly by the city, but receipts were insufficient to meet the expenses, and was felt the entire county share in the cost of supporting hospital.
